
Tuesday, October 10, 2017

BEATTY 301

3:00 PM

Graduate school is the time to hone skills in your field, meet new people, and potentially enter a new career. It can also be a time of high stress as you learn to navigate graduate education, faculty, and your responsibilities as a student (and possibly a working professional). Learn how to build your network and gain a reputation to be proud of through this interactive, discussion-based workshop.

For more information, contact Abbie Cain (caina@cofc.edu) or Annette Watson (watsonam@cofc.edu).